UNSEEMLY SCANDAL.

Carson loves nothing so much as scandal. During the past two weeks an unsavery recital of social gossip has been hawked about the streets from the saloon to the boudoir.

It involves the good name of a clergyman, and if not true, the parties who are responsible for the starting of the story should be made severe examples of.

People are prone to believe the worst when the name of a preacher of the gospel is concerned, and after the damage is once done it is hard to repair.

The character of a clergyman is about his only capital, and those who speak lightly of it without a cause should be held account-

In justice to all concerned, the Vestry of the Parish should have an immediate investigation of the matter and settle the truth or falsity of the stories now being circulated in this city.

The clergyman whose name has been the the principle one in the scandal, owes it to himself and his parisioners to have such an investigation, and if the charges made against him are true, there is nothing left but an immediate resignation.

The church over which he presides has never before had a pastor charged with immorality, and it behooves the Vestry to see that the good name of the Church and pastor is vindicated.

He Felt Pretty Safe.

In the San Francisco Post of June 5th, is the following:

M. J. Costello died April 2nd last at Egan Canyon, White Pine county, Nevada. His estate is valued at $3,300. The will filed Head Cheese, here is a model of brevity.

He directs B. O'Connor to distribute what moneys there are to his credit in the Hibernia Bank, after paying himself for his services.

The distribution is to be as fol-

"An equal amount to the various Catholic Asylums of California and Virginia City, Nev. I also give $100 for masses for my soul."

By the death of Sir John Mc-Donald, England looses her strongest grip upon the Dominion of Canada. Although a staunch defender and admirer of a monarchial form of government Sir John was in many respects a great TANKS, PUMPS and WIND MILLS man, and as a managing politician he has few equals. His extreme jealousy of the commercial supremacy of the United States caused him to do many things to arouse the enmity of the citizens of this country; but from his point of view his acts were in the main justiflable.

Certain democrats are striving hard to make the Southern whites believe that the Federal Election bill is to be the principal issue of the Presidential campaign. It's always the same old story in the South, but every year it becomes more difficult to hold the progressive young men of that secttion in line for the moss-grown ideas of the democratic party, and Standard Family Groceries even now without the overlasting "nigger" issue it would be impossible.

There's a man on the San Francisco Chronicle whose knowledge of the tariff is confined exclusively to the tin plate part of it. He has been rattling tin plate before the Chronicle readers for two years and editorial columns read like a tin kettle being dragged over the ground tied to a dog's tail.

The writer must have been a tin smith appentice in his early years, and can't write anything but shop.

Every new vessel added to our navy increases the respect with which Uncle Sam is treated by foreign nations. Nations are like individuals; when it is known they are prepared to fight they are seldom interfered with.
